FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

IMPORTANT: Aspire Financial Services, LLC (“Aspire”) provides the information in this document as a general guide to the loan process for a variety of retirement plans and accounts. It may or may not be applicable to your plan/account. Please verify with your Plan Sponsor as to whether loans are available for your plan/account and find out about any additional requirements and/or limitations that may apply to your plan.

Before taking a loan from your retirement plan/account, you should consult a financial and/or tax advisor.

How do I apply for a loan?

To apply for a loan from your account, complete the enclosed Retirement Plan Loan Application. Return the completed application to your Plan Sponsor or its Third Party Administrator. The Plan Sponsor or Third Party Administrator will notify Aspire when your loan has been approved for processing.

How much may I borrow from my retirement account?

In many cases, you can borrow up to the lesser of 50% of your vested balance or $50,000. If you’ve had an outstanding loan balance in any retirement plan offered by your Plan Sponsor within the past year, the maximum amount you can borrow may be reduced by the highest outstanding loan balance in the past 12 months. Your plan may also set a minimum loan amount.

How often may I borrow from my account?

In most cases, you can request a loan at any time. Some plans allow for only one loan to be outstanding at a time. Other plans may allow for more than one loan.

What is the interest rate on the loan?

In most cases, the loan’s interest rate will be equivalent to the federal prime rate plus 1% (based on when the loan is processed). Your plan, however, may require a different interest rate. The interest rate will be fixed for the duration of your loan, and all interest paid on the loan is reinvested in your account.

How quickly must I repay the loan?

In most cases, you must repay the loan within 5 years. If the loan is used to purchase a principal residence, your plan may allow a longer repayment period of up to 15 years. Additional documentation may be required for a primary residence loan with a repayment period of longer than 5 years.

You may be required to pay off an outstanding loan balance (or have your outstanding loan balance defaulted and deemed to be a taxable distribution) in certain situations, such as when you leave employment with the Plan Sponsor, or in the event of your death.

You can choose to repay the outstanding loan balance in full at any time. For information on paying off an outstanding loan, please contact Plan Sponsor or Aspire.

How do I repay my loan?

In most cases, your loan will be repaid through payroll deductions administered by your Plan Sponsor. Your Plan Sponsor should begin deducting loan repayments from your paycheck as soon as administratively possible following the issuance of your loan check.

What happens to my loan repayment if I’ve exchanged into a different investment within my account?

Loan repayments are invested based on your elections for the investment of contributions to your plan at the time each repayment is processed. When you exchange an existing balance in your account from one investment to another, this does not change how future contributions (and loan repayments) to your account will be invested. If you want to change how future contributions (and loan repayments) are invested, be sure to also change your elections regarding the investment of contributions.

What happens if my loan is not repaid?

A loan may be considered in default if scheduled payments are not made during the term of the loan. A defaulted loan may be deemed as a taxable distribution. In the event of a deemed distribution, the outstanding amount of the loan will be reported to the IRS, and may be subject to taxation and early withdrawal penalties. A defaulted loan may prohibit you from being able to later take another loan from your account.

Is there a setup fee for the loan?

In most cases, there is a fee for the loan. This fee may be different from plan to plan. For information on loan fees that apply to your plan, you can contact Aspire or ask your Plan Sponsor. In most cases, applicable loan fees are deducted from your account.

How does the loan process work?

Upon receipt of approval for your loan from the Plan Sponsor or Third Party Administrator, Aspire will sell assets in your account to fund your loan and will send the proceeds of your loan to you.

Terms & Conditions

IMPORTANT: Aspire Financial Services, LLC (“Aspire”) provides the information in this document as a general guide to the loan process for a variety of retirement plans and accounts. It may or may not be applicable to your plan/account. Please verify with your Plan Sponsor as to whether loans are available for your plan/account and find out about any additional requirements and/or limitations that may apply to your plan.

Before taking a loan from your retirement plan/account, you should consult a financial and/or tax advisor.

MAXIMUM AMOUNT

In many cases, you can borrow up to the lesser of 50% of your vested balance or $50,000. If you’ve had an outstanding loan balance in any retirement plan offered by your Plan Sponsor within the past year, the maximum amount you can borrow may be reduced by the highest outstanding loan balance in the past 12 months.

MINIMUM AMOUNT

The minimum amount you can borrow from your account is determined by your plan’s provisions.

LOAN DURATION

In most cases, you must repay the loan within 5 years. If the loan is used to purchase a principal residence, your plan may allow a longer repayment period of up to 15 years. Additional documentation may be required for a primary residence loan with a repayment period of longer than 5 years.

You may be required to pay off an outstanding loan balance (or have your outstanding loan balance defaulted and deemed to be a taxable distribution) in certain situations, such as when you leave employment with the Plan Sponsor, or in the event of your death.

You can choose to repay the outstanding loan balance in full at any time. For information on paying off an outstanding loan, please contact Aspire.

RATE OF INTEREST

In most cases, the loan’s interest rate will be equivalent to the federal prime rate plus 1% (based on when the loan is processed). Your plan, however, may require a different interest rate. The interest rate will be fixed for the duration of your loan, and all interest paid on the loan is reinvested in your account.

LOANS FROM SHARE CLASSES THAT HAVE FEES

Loans may require the sale of shares of funds subject to contingent deferred sales charges (CDSC), redemption fees, or other charges/fees. To the extent that these charges/fees apply, additional assets will be sold from the account to pay these fees. Loan repayments may be treated as new purchases of shares.

REPAYMENT

In most cases, your loan will be repaid through payroll deductions administered by your Plan Sponsor. Your Plan Sponsor should begin deducting loan repayments from your paycheck as soon as administratively possible following the issuance of your loan check.

REINVESTMENT OF LOAN INSTALLMENT PAYMENTS

Loan repayments are invested based on your elections for the investment of contributions to your plan at the time each repayment is processed. When you exchange an existing balance in your account from one investment to another, this does not change how future contributions (and loan repayments) to your account will be invested. If you want to change how future contributions (and loan repayments) are invested, be sure to also change your elections regarding the investment of contributions.

DEFAULT

A loan may be considered in default if scheduled payments are not made during the term of the loan. A defaulted loan may be deemed as a taxable distribution. In the event of a deemed distribution, the outstanding amount of the loan will be reported to the IRS, and may be subject to taxation and early withdrawal penalties. A defaulted loan may prohibit you from being able to later take another loan from your account.

PLAN DISTRIBUTION

It is very important to note that if you begin taking your RMD, the outstanding loan balance must be included in determining how much you must distribute annually. You must continue to repay a loan after a qualified distribution.

QUALIFIED DOMESTIC RELATIONS ORDERS

In the event the retirement account is to be divided pursuant to a properly executed Qualified Domestic Relations Order (QDRO), it remains the participant’s responsibility to continue to make loan repayments in accordance with the terms of this agreement.

DISCLAIMER

Current tax regulations provide that a loan from the retirement account will not adversely affect the tax-exempt status of the account or be treated as a taxable distribution, provided the loan amount is within the maximum amount permitted by the plan and repayments are made strictly in accordance with the loan documents. However, neither Aspire Financial Services, LLC the plan custodian, nor the affiliates of either, assume any responsibility or liability for adverse tax consequences incurred by a participant, plan, or plan sponsor as a result of a loan from the plan.
